Welcome

Welcome to Barcelona

On behalf of the local organising committee, we would like to warmly welcome you to Barcelona for the 5th biennial ECPR Regulatory Governance Standing Group Conference. June is a beautiful time of year in this Mediterranean city, with warm sunny days and fresh nights. The conference venue, the Social Sciences and Humanities Campus of the Universitat Pompeu Fabra, is in the heart of the city and will have the capacity to house all the Conference activities, making it easy to participate in different events while being within a convenient distance of hotels, cultural activities and entertainment venues. The organisers already have been working hard to sketch out a program, and to develop events in line with our theme, "Regulatory Governance between Local and Global". We are excited about the conference contributions, debates and for the opportunity to welcome all of you in Barcelona.

Jacint Jordana, on behalf of the local organizing committee

Welcome Message of the Co-chairs of the ECPR Standing Group on Regulatory Governance

It is with great honour and enthusiasm that we welcome you to the 5th Biennial Conference of the ECPR Standing Group on Regulatory Governance. The biennial conferences of our thriving interdisciplinary network (with over 2000 members) are a major asset to increase mutual exchange of ideas, theories and empirical insights within our interdisciplinary network, inducing cross-fertilization and progress in accumulating knowledge about how regulation is governed. This conference is expected to be particularly timely and enlightening as the focus is on regulatory governance in the current multi-level context. Regulation is developed, decided and implemented within public and private arenas in which multiple levels of government constantly interact, compete and cooperate. The local organizing team and the steering group have taken great efforts to compose a particularly appealing program with numerous panels, round tables, data base presentation sessions, keynotes and prizes. We thank in advance the local organizing team and all invited scholars for their enormous contribution. We invite you all warmly to participate in these events and jointly turn them into another successful conference of our standing group, just like our previous four conferences.

Koen Verhoest and Anne Meuwese, Co-chairs of the ECPR Standing Group on Regulatory Governance

About the ECPR standing group on Regulatory Governance

The study of regulation and regulatory governance is attracting an increasing attention in the field of political science. The group's founding members and those who joined it subsequently believe that the study of regulation & governance is increasingly important topic in the social sciences. The aim of our group is to provide a platform and infrastructure for encouraging studies in this area and the creation of an institutional arena for mutual interaction and debate.

We aim to bring together a broad range of scholars working on (various aspects) of 'regulatory governance' in all parts of the world, including scholars from fields such as law, economics, sociology, criminology, (social) psychology and history for a fruitful exchange of ideas and knowledge on regulatory governance. However, as a Standing Group of the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR), the main focus of the group will be on the political aspects of regulation. We believe in openness and pluralism and intend to open the group not only for different disciplines but to different theoretical perspective and to variety of methodological approaches.

About Institut Barcelona d'Estudis Internacionals (IBEI)

The Institut Barcelona d'Estudis Internacionals (IBEI) was set up in February 2004 with the goal of becoming a leading European institution for advanced research and postgraduate training of future generations of professionals and experts dealing with international affairs of public concern. The Institute was formally established as a private foundation by the five public universities in the Greater Barcelona area, along with the CIDOB Foundation and five government institutions: the Generalitat, Catalonia's regional government; Barcelona City Hall; the Diputació, Barcelona province's government; the Mancomunitat, the association of Greater Barcelona municipalities; and Spain's Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Cooperation. In the summer of 2004, IBEI was granted formal recognition as an inter-university research institute by the Generalitat's Department of Universities, Research and Information Society.

The Institute has become, first and foremost, a centre for advanced research in international studies. IBEI's core academic staff is made up of tenure-track professors and postdoctoral researchers, and also engages visiting professors and affiliated faculty members of the Barcelona universities that created the Institute. It organizes research activity within three interdisciplinary programmes, which respectively study the implications of globalization for the economy, for governance and for security.

Giandomenico Majone Prize

The ECPR Standing Group on Regulatory Governance awards the Giandomenico Majone Prize for papers to be presented at its 5th Biennial Conference on Regulatory Governance between Global and Local. The prize is in honor of Giandomenico Majone for his outstanding contribution for the study of regulatory governance in the European Union and well beyond it. This award recognizes outstanding research by scholars in early stages of her or his career in the field of regulatory governance from all relevant disciplinary backgrounds. The Prize is limited to scholars having completed their PhD no more than seven years before the deadline for submission.

The Prize Committee invited nominations from the panel chairs and the organizing committee of the conference. Papers were also be submitted for consideration directly by authors as long as they were taking part in the conference and were presented at the conference. Papers were be selected among those presented in the Standing Group Conference. Published or already accepted papers in peer-reviewed journals were not eligible for the competition, and so are papers co-authored with senior scholars. The Prize awards 300 Euros.

The Prize Committee:

- Prof. Dr. Jarle Trondal, Chair, Professor in Public Administration at University of Agder and at ARENA
- Prof. Dr. Linda Senden, Professor in International and European Law, University of Utrecht, and co-director of the Law Department research programme and centre on 'Shared Regulation and Enforcement in Europe' (RENFORCE)
- Prof. Dr. Yannis Papadopoulos, Professor in Political Science at the University of Lausanne
- Dr. Claire Dunlop, Senior Lecturer in Public Policy, Department of Politics at the University of Exeter.

Standing Group Award for Regulatory Studies Development

Since the Giandomenico Majone Prize is aimed at early-career scholars, the Steering Committee of the ECPR Standing Group on Regulatory Governance has decided to establish a new award in order to be able to recognize the contributions to the field of regulatory governance by senior scholars: the Standing Group Award for Regulatory Studies Development. The newly established award bestows recognition on a senior scholar who promoted a new teaching initiative, opened a new research sub field, delivered crucial publications or made a significant public contribution to the field (i.e., a large dataset, a new technique).

After a nomination round and deliberation among the Steering Committee, which acted as a jury for this award, the Committee was very pleased to grant David Levi-Faur for the first Standing Group Award for Regulatory Studies Development.

David Levi-Faur is the first recipient of this award because of his successful efforts to create an academic regulatory governance community, as exemplified by his initiative to co-found the ECPR Standing Group on Regulation and Governance in 2005 and because of his high impact research.

David Levi-Faur is a professor at the Federmann School of Public Policy and the Department of Political Science at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem. Together with John Braithwaite and Cary Coglianese he was the founding editor of the successful Wiley-Blackwell journal Regulation & Governance. He has held research and teaching positions at the University of Haifa, the University of Oxford, the Australian National University, the University of Manchester and the Freie Universität Berlin as well as visiting positions at the London School of Economics, the University of Amsterdam, the University of Utrecht and the University of California (Berkeley). His numerous and much-cited publications include special issues of the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences (The Global Diffusion of Regulatory Capitalism, co-edited with Jacint Jordana) and Governance (Varieties of Regulatory Capitalism) and editorships of the Oxford Handbook of Governance (OUP, 2012) and The Handbook of the Politics of Regulation (Edward Elgar, 2011). Together with Avishai Benish he is editing the working paper series Jerusalem Papers in Regulation & Governance.

More information on the nomination and selection procedures of Standing Group awards can be found on the Standing Group website. Both awards will be granted during official dinner of the Biennial Conference, the 26 June 2014 (20:30), where the recipient of the award for the Regulatory Studies Development will address the conference audience with a speech.

Books

Wednesday 25 June 2014 (17:30-18:45)

The New Regulatory Space. Reframing Democratic Governance (Edward Elgar) Frank Vibert, London School of Economics (LSE)

This groundbreaking book analyses changing patterns of governance in modern democratic societies. Frank Vibert discusses how far we should be concerned about such changes and what we should be concerned about. Crucially, Vibert clarifies the status of regulation, revealing how regulation should be viewed, not only as a technique offering specific responses to particular policy problems, but also in its new role as the key mechanism for making adjustments between the different systems of coordination used in contemporary governance.

Thursday 26 June 2014 (12:00-13:15)

Democracy in crisis? Politics, Governance and Policy (Macmillan) Yannis Papadopoulos, University of Lausanne

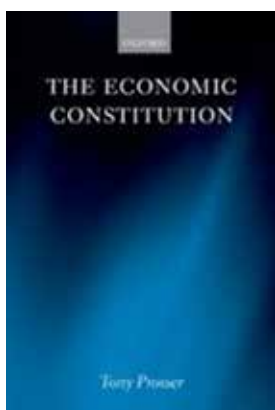

Democracy in Crisis provides a systematic assessment of the key trends in democratic politics, such as the crisis of parties, the roles of the media and of the courts, the internationalization of policy-making, changes in governance and administrative reforms. It examines the central challenges today's democracies face, and the implications of each challenge for the health of democratic systems. It addresses key questions such as:

- Do citizens have meaningful opportunities to exercise power?
- How much control do politicians have over decision-making?
- Are technocrats and cause groups gaining in influence?
- Are politics and policy-making disconnected?
- Have we entered the "winter" of democracy?

Friday 27 June 2014 (11:15-12:30)

The Economic Constitution (Oxford University Press)

Tony Prosser, University of Bristol

This book sets out different meanings of an economic constitution, and applies them to key areas of economic management, including taxation and public borrowing, the management of public spending, (including the Spending Review), monetary policy, financial services regulation, industrial policy (including state shareholdings) and government contracting. It analyses the key institutions involved such as the Treasury and the Bank of England, also including a number of less well-known bodies such as the Office for Budget Responsibility. There is also coverage of the international context in which these institutions operate especially the European Union and the World Trade Organisation. It thus provides an account of the public law applying to economic management in the UK.

This book also adopts a critical approach, assessing the degree to which there is coherence in the arrangements for economic management, the degree to which economic policy-making is constrained by constitutional norms, and the degree to which economic management is subject to deliberation and accountability through Parliament, the courts and other institutions.

Database presentations

Wednesday 25 June 2014 (14:15-16:15)

Database presentation I

Organising Regulatory Governance: Databases on Regulatory (and other) Organizations

Chair: Professor Claudio M. Radaelli, University of Exeter

GlobalReg database on the Spread of Regulatory Institutions across the Globe

Jacint Jordana, UPF-IBEI, Andrea C. Bianculli, IBEI and Xavier Fernández Marín, ESADE Business School.

GlobalReg dataset includes data on the institutional and organizational characteristics of regulatory agencies in 16 sectors and 119 countries, for the year 2010.

Longitudinal mapping databases on structural changes of state organizations (including regulatory bodies)

Colin Scott (UCD) and Julia Fleischer (VU Amsterdam)

These datasets allow to compare birth, changes and death (mergers, splits...) of regulatory public organizations compared to public organizations with other tasks at central level in these countries.

The survey-based dataset of autonomy and control of (regulatory and other) agencies in 16 countries gathered by the COBRA network.

Koen Verhoest UAntwerpen and KULeuven

This dataset contains data originated from a survey of senior management of public sector agencies, which was replicated in 16 countries (the COBRA network "Comparative Public Organization Data Base for Research and Analysis - network").

Thursday 26 June 2014 (14:15-16:15)

Database presentation II

Regulatory Policy and Administrative Authority: What's in the Data Goldmine?

Chair: Koen Verhoest, University of Antwerp

Analysing Learning in Regulatory Governance (ALREG) Administrative Governance Database

Claire A. Dunlop, University of Exeter, and Claudio M. Radaelli, University of Exeter

The first of its kind, this database codes for 93 administrative law variables – for example freedom of information; impact assessment, etc – for 30 OECD countries.

Unravelling the central state: A comparative measure of decentralization for 80 countries

Sarah Shair-Rosenfield, Arizona State University, Liesbet Hooghe, UNC Chapel Hill / VU Amsterdam, and Gary Marks, UNC Chapel Hill / VU Amsterdam

The Regional Authority Index (RAI) is a fine-grained measure of the formal authority of regional governments on an annual basis across ten dimensions. The dataset currently covers 80 countries in four world regions.

EUVAL dataset of 181 ex-post legislative evaluations commissioned or conducted by the European Commission between 2000 and 2012.

Ellen Mastenbroek, Radboud University Nijmegen, and Stijn van Voorst, Radboud University Nijmegen

EUVAL dataset contains 181 ex-post legislative evaluations commissioned or conducted by the European Commission between 2000 and 2012).
